

The Promise Keeper Movie Screens in Brooklyn

CHICAGO, LANCASTER, PA, October 20, 2006 – Woolly Head Production's premier feature, The Promise Keeper will screen in Brooklyn, New York on Tuesday, October 24, 2006 at 7:00pm at the Medgar Evers College Film & Culture Series. "I've taken film classes in New York and shot projects in and around Prospect Park," said first-time feature director, Martin Whitehead. "It's an honor to be invited back to Brooklyn to screen our film and to participate in a panel discussion at Medgar Evers College." After the screening, Whitehead will participate in a community discussion on "Building Culture."

The Promise Keeper Movie

In the supernatural mystery/drama, a Chicago attorney races to stop a supernatural creature before it destroys his life and his daughter for their broken promises. After an unusual statue arrives in a Chicago law firm, three attorneys fall under the influence of a supernatural entity. When one of the lawyers is killed, the burden falls on the founding partner, Bernard Gregory, played by Ric Walker, to unravel the mystery. Along the way, Bernard discovers that his 14-year-old daughter Tina has driven a nail and sworn a sacred oath. The lives of everyone that Bernard loves depend on what he does next.

Medgar Evers College Film & Culture Series

"We're thrilled to host the New York City premier of The Promise Keeper," said Miles McAfee, program director. The mission of the Film & Culture Series is to provide a forum where Medgar Evers College Students and the Community can meet, engage important films and be a part of discussions that provide alternative avenues of information, give them greater understanding of the current world environment, and provide access to information, resources and networking opportunities that enable them to excel. "We really enjoyed this film and thought it fit perfectly with our discussions on 'building culture'," added McAfee.
